Message from the CEO

The National Hardware Show has come and gone and I am very happy to report that Brookville Glove pulled the show off without any problems. Our sales and management staff was very excited with the amount of contacts generated from the show. Now that we are back from Las Vegas our sales team will be following up on all of the contacts and leads that we made; to ensure we have a future business relationships.

It is an absolute pleasure to see how much Brookville Glove has grown as a company with all the exposure from the National Hardware Show. Brookville Glove hopes to attend more trade shows and events like the National Hardware Show to continue our expansion and growth.

We are also expanding our Direct Mail Campaign and are reaching out to Construction Supply Stores. We feel what better way to get our top quality product into the hands of the construction workers than the Supply Stores themselves.
